This landmark event will take place at the very venue where Fraser's iconic play first premiered in 1987, at the Shaw Theatre, making the celebration a powerful tribute to his enduring impact on Black history and culture

Celebrating the captivating journey of Flip's early days in Jamaica to his influential role in London where he moved aged 16. Eventually becoming the pioneering editor of The Voice newspaper and creator of the iconic show: 'Black Heroes in the Hall of Fame' encapsulating 5,000 years of Black History in a single night of theatre, Flip Fraser's legacy continues to inspire.

Join us for an evening of drama and live entertainment.
Don't miss your chance to be a part of history!

Proudly sponsored by University of Greenwich

"We are thrilled to support this celebration of Flip Fraser's legacy and Black excellence. This event is one in a series of exciting collaborations we hope to foster through our Global Majority Alumni Community" Mary Davies, Associate Director of Alumni and Fundraising, University of Greenwich.
